

Anouar Gharbi is the founder and chairman of a number of human rights organizations and research institutes in Europe and the Arab world. He has played a significant role in the efforts striving to advocate for transparency, governance, justice and human rights issues. He is an expert in international relations with an extended network in the NGOs' world. He has been awarded the type three of the Order of the Tunisian Republic. He is currently Secretary General of the Geneva Council for international Affairs and Development GCIAD, Honorary President of the Swiss "Rights for All" organization he presided for 12 years. He is member and co-founder of the International Jurists Union. He holds the position of Director of Geneva Center for Democracy and Human rights during 2015-2016 and was chosen in 2010-2011 as the first Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Euro-Mid Observer for Human Rights. Former senior advisor of the Tunisian President Moncef Marzouki, responsible for foreign affairs and international organizations, Anouar Gharbi was the vice-president of the 2014 presidential campaign. In 2019 he was the president and spokesman of the former prime minister Hammadi Jbali's presidential campaign. Anouar Gharbi obtained his Bachelor's Degree in Agricultural Engineering and graduated from the Graduate School of Management in Geneva as business Engineer.